Austrian Presidential Election: Final Act?

And finally the long awaited second turn of the Austrian presidential election took place. As many had predicted (and as it could be easily guessed by the previous results) on December 4th Norbert Hofer, the emerging candidate of the far-right nationalist FPÖ (Freiheitliche Partei Österreichs - Austrian Freedom Party) didn't succeed in beating his opponent, an Alexander Van Der Bellen (independent, but warmly endorsed by the Green Party—Die Grünen) who was then elected 9th Austrian President.

In the final act of the most controversial and tense presidential election of post-war Austria (see NS Bul. 119), the solid Armada of social-democrats, liberals, greens, communists and riff-raff alike took the battlefield with the only goal to prevent a strong nationalist figure to take over the Presidential seat at first with a ruthless, terror-based electoral campaign, and later calling “all good-willed and honest Austrians” to the ballot boxes for the final fight.

We know way too well how talented is Social-democracy in terrorizing the masses and infecting the entire folk with self-fright: “Beware! If you try to preserve your identity, your culture, legacy and even your own land you'll put yourself and others in grave danger!”

Look how nice is to see muslims, africans and jews promoting their traditions, languages and culture! But how dangerous it becomes if white Europeans do the same, nothing good can come

To Commit

The following article was written by one of our newest French volunteers. We thank him for his contribution!

In the neighborhoods, “young people” are active for the refugees. From Sarcelles, in the Val d'Oise to the Marseilles suburbs, a whole youth rises early to make and deliver meals to clandestine immigrants arriving en masse. A whole youth rises early to help those who remain and remain the spearhead of the ultimate invasion. In France, it is even possible to find among the ranks of its enemies within the ranks of the semi-intellectuals, the workers, a small patronage which, in the world that is to come, will be doomed to disappear.

It must be said that the construction of identity is no longer the one we know and a certain accommodation to the neoliberal system greatly relativizes the view that some of our compatriots are making of the realities of this time... So those who help migrants only help their own loss. Despite them, without knowing it, many French, but also European, by their voluntary forgetfulness are responsible for the future crimes that will be committed against their relatives... And it is by the enslavement to a mortifying thought—to the secular prejudice—that we are led to our ideas, which are preventing us from doing everything properly according to the reason and the morality which is ours.

Thus, by deciding to invest, many people, implanted in our different territories, trace the furrows of the foreign implantation to the very heart of our territories. Past, present and future are constructed differently than we would like. We can even consider that the wild hordes that invade our territories want to quickly Islamize the old Europe... It is also obvious that this situation is not fantasy. It is enough to see the postures of the first immigrant generations to realize that all of Africa are trying to impose themselves on us...

In any case, if we take a look at the actions of our enemies, it is evident that their commitment is total. They want to change French society according to their cultural aspirations and are no longer content to demand that measures be taken... They create them!

In this regard, it will be noted in passing that the leftist groups no longer launch Molotov cocktails while shouting their hatred of our country. They act within the various anti-French associations. Everywhere, petitions in hand, fleeing the violent attitudes that expose them too much, they permeate the territories with their crass mentalities. Everywhere these dirty spirits help to generalize the ideals carried by the multicultural society. In all European countries, a small number of activists, all exploited by tensions, seek to corrupt the most exposed social strata, weakened by the constant anti-social attacks...

However, at our level, must we shun History?

Should we continue to allow our enemies to always exalt their martyrs and transform our lives into hell? Must we submit to the mortal doctrines which favor the hybridization of our inherited high culture, which has long been mature?

In view of the facts that oppose our survival as a differentiated culture of the global mass, we must make the choice to incarnate history and voluntarily emerge from the long period of criminalization of our political Racialist.

It is important to move away from neoliberal models and to refuse the colonization of our human conscience as the most fearful of our territories. Better, faster, allowing us a complete overhaul of our way of acting, especially in Europe, we must imperatively reaffirm our total cultural superiority and guarantee us of ruin by force.

This point seems essential to us, for if we remain in the ready-thinking of the moment, we will never succeed in definitively settling the major societal problems which confront us; never will we emerge from the counter-history that the Jews and Freemasons dream of impos-

Our Youth

As we begin the new year we give thought to the importance of training new followers, especially young people, as they will be the future of our mission. What better place to start than to share with you the great speech that our Fuhrer gave to the Hitlerjugend in 1934? Here it is:

My German Youth,

After a year's time, I can now greet you here again!

Since then, enormous events have taken place in Germany. Already twelve months ago, the battle for power has granted us success. In the meantime, our movement-of which you are the young guards today and future bearers-has taken hold of one position after another in our country and bestowed it to the German people. At the same time, your movement has grown from an already large union to the largest youth organization in the world. This is the result of numerous contributors whose leader I assigned to you, party comrade, Mr. Schirach.

In this vast arena here today, you are a part of what people stand for in this country. You must now take on and learn in your youth what we want to see take shape in all of Germany. We know that nothing is handed to a people but everything must be fought for and conquered. There is nothing one can be a master of that one has not first learned and instilled into oneself. And so now, we want that you, German boys and German girls, take up all that we have hope for in you and our country-what we want to see fulfilled in Germany.

We want to be ONE nation, and you my youth, you shall now become this nation. We do not want to see class and status differences anymore, and so you must not allow yourselves to nurture attitudes that promote them. We want to see ONE Reich, and you must already now train yourselves for this in ONE from it.”

As absurd as this may appear to the eyes of those who got rid of their international-jewish brainwashing, this threat works very well to keep the power. After the self-evident social and economic failure of all the applications of marxist-bolshevik doctrines, there is nothing left, as a tool, but to frighten the masses with their own shadows.

Even defeated, Hofer was able to collect 2,124,661 votes (46.21%) versus 2,472,892 (53.79%) of his Salonrevoluzzer opponent, an unprecedented and promising result for FPÖ, anyway. The ever more evident tendency of Europe toward the right and far-right is clear and one can only wish that, even if no party has revealed to be openly National Socialist, the voters of the emerging nationalist movements are just waiting for the chance to soon join a party like NSDAP, the only northern star able to direct European folks toward a new era of grandeur.

But, as the media in half the continent are merrily yelling “democracy has fortunately triumphed” and that is ever much clear by the fact that the freshly elected President (ex social-democrat with a past into masonry) has already declared that, should the next legislative elections that will be held in 2018 be won by FPÖ, he's ready to use all means to prevent Hans-Christian Strache (leader and most likely head candidate for FPÖ) from becoming the next Chancellor. Well, people, we certainly do not wish the power to go into the hands of those who would win regular elections, do we? What are we, a dictatorship?

organization. We want our folk to be loyal, and you must learn this loyalty. We want our people to be obedient, and you must practice obedience. We want our folk to be peace loving, but also brave. You must always be ready for peace and at the same time courageous.

We do not want our people to be weaklings but that they can be tough in order to withstand the difficulties of life. And you must already train yourselves for this in your youth. We want our people to love honor again, and you must declare yourselves to the principle of honor already in your youngest years. We want you to be a proud people again, and in your youth you must attain this pride; a proud people from which springs the pride of your youth and carries into the generations to come. All that we demand from the Germany of the future, we demand from you, boys and girls. This you must practice and in this contribute to the future. No matter what we create today and what we do, we will pass on one day. But in you Germany will continue. And when there will be nothing left of us, then you must bear the flag in your hand—a flag which we once raised from nothing.

You must therefore stand confident on the soil of your country, and you must be strong so that this flag will never be taken from you. And then, when generation after generation comes after you, you will have the right to demand the same from them. Then you can demand from your future youth that they be like you were. And then Germany looks at you also with pride, and everyone's heart runs over with joy when we see you. And when we see in you the promise that our work is not in vain, but that it bears fruit in our country, then we are all gripped with a proud happiness to see in you the fulfillment of our work. With that we have the assurance that the Millions who died in WWI—the great numbers of our comrades—have not made the sacrifice for Germany in vain, so that in the end, out from all of it, a one-spirited, free, proud, and honor-loving people will emerge.

ing on us. Yes, we must no longer be indulgent and we must be radical. We must imperatively evacuate all the parasites that try to extort our country and our history.

Every political soldier, every National Socialist officer, must consider that our values, which are fully received and digested, must allow for the gathering of all the Aryan forces. In this idea, European problems must be resolved by force.

Total war, in general, alone will enable us to re-establish our rights. The French National Socialists, but also European, must never be willing to give up the struggle.

To be a National Socialist in the 21st century is to behave on a European scale as a military activist. Do not integrate the idea of white European convergence, taking refuge in destructive chauvinisms; it is helping the dislocation of our living space. In the same way, and as already expressed, to fight today, according to our ideals, is to abrogate any form of legality that tends to deprive us of our living force. All modern laws and morals, tending to degrade the necessary virility to combat, must be opposed.

This is also one of our duties: to liquidate the thoughts and attitudes that weaken our consciousness of struggle and identity survival.

At the same time, and we are convinced of this, both from our experience in the field and from the measure taken of the betrayals of some of our patriotic comrades, it is the duty of every National Socialist officer to stimulate and agitate the People.

We can no longer afford to find him asleep while the colonization of our living space is becoming more important day by day. In any case, and the period is conducive to this, we must use the migratory crisis to precipitate the fall of stateless capitalism. We must be inspired by the struggle of our elders.

To act as a revolutionary radical nationalist is also to flee all the current political parties that have mouthed only global disarmament and acceptance of active aggressive minorities. The betrayal of the current parties, with a few exceptions (one would not want to mix the parties of Germanic culture with those of Latin

You cannot be any other way but be bound to us. And when the large processions of our movement march today gloriously through Germany, then we know that you will join these columns, and we know that culture like France) announces in all cases their political death. The abdication of their role, their passage alongside the internationals, is the most visible sign. Now we have much to do and rather than flee from reality, we want youth to prepare for battle.

Everywhere in Europe, with the NSDAP/AO endorsement—the only government that can guide a comprehensive racist Aryan policy—everyone must have at heart the founding of national organizations and put into action all the initiatives that will allow the destruction of our enemies. And thus, allow the advent of a Viertes Reich.

In particular, to enter the fight for the survival of our Race, is to make the unique choice to join the NSDAP/AO.
